Systems Use Policy

Andino Logística S.A. | Document G09 | Date: 2026-06-10

Authentication and passwords

Two-step authentication is mandatory for all systems. Sharing passwords or leaving a session open on shared equipment is prohibited. Passwords must be renewed when the system requires it and may not be reused between corporate and personal systems.

Reporting security incidents

Security incidents are reported immediately to mesa-ayuda@andino.com. Incidents include the loss of a device or token, suspicious emails, unauthorized access to information and any anomalous behavior of a system.

Customer data

Personal devices may not store customer data. Customer information is shared only through authorized corporate channels and only with those who need it for their task.

Acceptable use

- Company systems are used for work purposes; occasional personal use is tolerated if it does not affect work or security.
- No programs that were not authorized by IT are installed.
- Internal documents are not copied to storage or artificial intelligence services that the company has not approved.

Monitoring

The company may log access and activity on its systems for security and audit purposes, in compliance with the personal data protection regulations in force in Uruguay.

Email and messaging

Corporate email is used for work communications. When facing a suspicious email, attachments and links are not opened and it is forwarded to the help desk. Messages containing customer information are not sent to personal accounts. Corporate messaging channels are used for operational coordination; relevant decisions are confirmed by email.

Software and equipment inventory

All company equipment is recorded in the IT inventory with its responsible person. Software is installed only from authorized sources. Security updates are applied within the deadlines indicated by IT, and devices are restarted when requested.

Backups

Work documents are saved in the corporate repositories, which have automatic backups. Documents are not stored exclusively on the local disk. IT periodically verifies the recovery of the backups.

Use of artificial intelligence tools

Only the artificial intelligence tools approved by the company may be used. Customer data, financial information and HR documents are not entered into external tools. Generated answers are reviewed before being used in decisions or formal communications.

Departures and role changes

When a person leaves the company or changes area, HR notifies IT to revoke or adjust their access the same day. Managers review each year that their team's permissions match their duties.

Sanctions

Breach of this policy may lead to disciplinary measures, without prejudice to any legal responsibilities that apply.
