Emergency and Evacuation Plan

What to do when the alarm sounds

When the alarm sounds, staff must go to the assembly point: north parking lot, column 7. The workplace must be left through the nearest emergency exit, without picking up personal belongings and without using elevators.

Floor wardens

The floor wardens of each floor check that nobody is left behind and carry the list of people present. Wardens are identified by an orange vest and are trained once a year in evacuation and first aid.

Returning to the building

Nobody may return to the building until authorized by the emergency coordinator. The coordinator announces the end of the emergency verbally at the assembly point and by email to all staff.

Drills

Two drills are held per year, one of them without prior notice to staff. After each drill a report is completed with evacuation times and the improvements identified.

Visitors and carriers

Hosts are responsible for escorting their visitors to the assembly point and for informing the warden of their presence.
